

Artists for a Cause invites the public to donate food for the hungry, enjoy an hour of dance

FOR YOUR VOICE NEWS & VIEWS

Did you know that more than 100,000 people on the Treasure Coast don't know where their next meal will come from? Here in our region, which includes Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin and Okeechobee counties, 16 percent of the population struggles with hunger, including nearly 35,000 children. Artists for a Cause is doing its part to help fight hunger by producing the sixth annual Dance for Food event.

Dance for Food is a program designed to bring dancers and audiences together to collect food for the hungry. Artistically directed by Anna Preston, the annual Dance for Food event convenes many of Florida's finest contemporary dancers to showcase their talents in front of an audience

See DANCE page 17

Mallory Scott balances on Jerlyn Scott during last year's Dance for Food benefiting Artist's for A Cause out of Palm City. This year's performances take place Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. at the Flagler Place in Stuart; Nov. 16 at 3:30 p.m. at the Arts Magnet School in Fort Pierce; Nov. 27 at 7 p.m. at South Fork High School; and Nov. 23 at 3:30 p.m. at the Eissey Theatre in Palm Beach Gardens.

File photo by
Mitch Kloorfain
chief photographer

DANCE from page 16

whose only admission fee is a bag of unexpired, nonperishable goods.

The popular "food raiser" will showcase exceptional talent and provide quality entertainment in a variety of venues to help people throughout the region. The four events take place on: Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. at the Flagler Place in Stuart; Nov. 16 at 3:30 p.m. at the Arts Magnet School in Fort Pierce; Nov. 27 at 7 p.m. at South Fork High School; and Nov. 23 at 3:30 p.m. at the Eissey Theatre in Palm Beach Gardens.