

TREASURE COAST PROGRESS & INNOVATION

By Sue-Ellen Sanders

For Progress & Innovation

■ Real estate broker David Dew and singer Shelley Keelor won the inaugural Singing with the Stars held in March at the Lyric Theatre, for their rendition of "The Lady is a Tramp." The competition paired community "note"-ables with professional partners. The other duos included: Michael Izzolo and Elizabeth Casalini; Carley Moss and Karin Leone; Linda Weiksnar and Jonathan Cummings; and Bob Zaccheo and Debbie Bestor. Proceeds from the event benefited Artists for A Cause, a nonprofit organization that helps visual and performing artists use their talent for community improvement, as well as Keep Martin Beautiful. Terry Barber, executive director of Artists for a Cause and internationally renowned countertenor, teamed up with Stacy Ranieri, president and chief illuminator of The Firefly Group, to warm up the crowd with a song. Barber and Ranieri, creators of the event, served as emcees.