A sold-out crowd cheered on Martin County celebrities on a recent Saturday night as they competed in the third annual Singing with the Stars.

The star-studded event raises funds for Artists for a Cause, a non-profit founded by Palm City resident and countertenor Terry Barber that helps visual and performing artists use their talents for community improvement.

Mike Terrio took home the top prize of the evening for his performance of "Paradise By the Dashboard Light," as well as for his fundraising efforts.

In addition to Terrio, this year's contestants included Norman Beebe, Lorna Day, Debbi Greer-Denning, Jennifer Fontaine, Thomas Klersy, Susie McAllister, and Donna Roselli.

Each of the stars sang a duet with a local professional, including Carla Holbrook, Shelley Keelor, Janine Landolina and Karin Leone.

Paul Christoff, Carla Holbrook and Stacy Ranieri

The performances were accompanied by Peter Jones on piano, and the evening was directed and emceed by Jennifer Jones.
