

The Stuart News

An edition of the Treasure Coast
NewsPress Tribune

TREASURE COAST NEWSPAPERS

TCPalm.com

Friday, November 6, 2015

$1.00

DANCE FOR FOOD

I admire people who think outside of the box and the folks at Artists For A Cause, a Palm City-based nonprofit that uses the performing arts for the greater good, has done that with its annual Dance For Food event.

Audience members will enjoy innovative contemporary dances performed by several dance companies and some of the most gifted young artists in the area also will entertain.

The price of admission? A bag of unexpired, nonperishable goods to feed the hungry on the Treasure Coast and in Palm Beach County.

There are several 4 p.m. Sunday performances: This Sunday at the Fort Pierce Arts Magnet School for the Arts; Nov. 15 at Martin County High School; and Nov. 22 at The Kane Center in Stuart.

For those who cannot attend a show but would like to donate, nonperishable goods may be dropped off at the A4AC office, 1211 Sunset Trail in Palm City. Visit www.a4ac.org.